Changing Tomorrows Today

Kiwanis clubs view their role within their respective communities with a great deal of foresight. Key aspects to operating an effective club include:

- Evaluating both children's issues and community needs on an ongoing basis
- Conducting service projects to respond to those identified needs
- Maintaining an active membership roster of community-minded people who have both the desire and the ability to serve

Club meetings traditionally are held once a week and offer an atmosphere of fun, learning, and fellowship.

In addition to club meetings, the typical Kiwanian volunteers each month to assist with club service projects handled by our seven service committees.

Service projects often are linked to Kiwanis programs. "Young Children: Priority One" focus on the needs of pre-school children with focus on safety issues, child care and supporting improved parenting skills.

Service projects also can address other needs within the community, such as working to stop substance abuse, promoting literacy, youth leadership and responding to disasters.
